

Other published works

BPS (2011). Consultation on Preventing Suicide in England: A cross government outcomes strategy to save lives. British Psychological Society response to the department of health. BPS.

Kingerlee, R., Precious, D., Sullivan, L., & Barry, L. (2014). Engaging with the emotional lives of men. The Psychologist, 27(6), 418-421.

Seager, M., Morrison, L., Wilkins, D., Haggett, A., Sullivan, L., and Barry, J. (2014). The hidden mental pain of men. The Psychologist, March edition

Seager, M., Sullivan, L., & Barry, J. (2014). The Male Psychology Conference, University College London, June 2014. New Male Studies, 3 (2), 41-68.

Seager, M., Sullivan, L., & Barry, J. (2014). Gender scripts and suicidality: an initial validation of the theory. New Male Studies, 3, (3).

Seager, M. & Wilkins, D. (2014). Being a man – Putting life before death. The Psychologist, 27(6), 404-405.

Sullivan (2011). Masculinity, Alexithymia and Fear of Intimacy as Predictors of UK men's Attitudes Towards Seeking Professional Psychological Help.

Sullivan, L., Buck, C., & McLoughlin, P. (2004). Men's mental health in Southwark. Unpublished Manuscript: South London and Maudsley NHS Trust.

Sullivan, L., Camic, P., & Brown, J. (2014). Masculinity, alexithymia and fear of intimacy as predictors of UK men's attitudes towards seeking professional psychological help.

Wilkins, D., & Kemple, M. (2011). Delivering male: effective practice in male mental health. London: The Men's Health Forum.

Sullivan, L. & Sanderson, N. (2014). Male Psychology Conference, University College London, 2014. Presentation Title: A visualisation of male suicide statistics in the UK and why thinking about gender could hold the key to addressing male suicide.